

Rep. Kucinich's HR 2977 Names Chemtrails As An 'Exotic Weapon'

After years of denial from government, military, and environmental agencies, the reality of the controversial issue regarding the covert programs known as Chemtrails has been acknowledged.

On October 2, 2001 Congressman Dennis Kucinich, Ohio introduced H. R. 2977 during the 1st Session of the 107th Congress of the United States. The "Space Preservation Act of 2001" seeks to "preserve the cooperative, peaceful uses of space for the benefit of all humankind by permanently prohibiting the basing of weapons in space by the United States, and to require the President to take action and implement a world treaty banning space-based weapons."

In the bill Chemtrails are listed as an "exotic weapons system". Ironically in Section 7 - Definitions. The complete text of the bill may be found at Clifford Carnicom's website, "Chemtrail Crimes and Coverup Documented".

The bill also addresses such things as particle beams, electromagnetic radiation, plasma, or extremely low frequency (ELF) or ultra low frequency (ULF) energy radiation, and mind-control as weapons. All of these areas have been researched and pondered by those investigating chemtrails and working to gain accountability for those programs.

They can't have it both ways. Water vapor is not a weapon.

This is a call to all those of conscience. This is a time when action is needed. It is time. The lies have gone on long enough. We can tell the Air Force and the Navy and the other agencies involved in this criminal activity, "No, You may NOT own the Weather ...Period!" We may not have another chance.

On behalf of the members of Chemtrail Tracking USA, Clifford Carnicom's Board, Chemtrail Central and the many other groups and individuals working diligently to get accountability, we urge your listeners to respond. Contact government and media, demand answers. If not now, when?

We know what we see. We did not consent. We want it stopped.

Note regarding particulars of HR 2977 -

The 'Space Preservation Act of 2001' deals mainly with space as defined by ALTITUDE. Granted, we don't receive reports of chemtrails or contrails in space.

The bill states "SEC. 7. DEFINITIONS. In this Act:

(1) The term 'space' means all space extending upward from an altitude greater than 60 kilometers above the surface of the earth and any celestial body in such space."

However, in Section 7, 2 (C) it states.

"The term 'exotic weapons systems' includes weapons designed to damage space or NATURAL ECOSYSTEMS (such as the ionosphere and upper atmosphere) or CLIMATE, WEATHER, and tectonic systems with the purpose of inducing damage or destruction upon a target population or region on earth or in space." (emphasis added.)

This would definately include the altitude at which chemtrails are found.

In addition, in Section 7 - Definitions, it is stated in (2)(A) "The terms 'weapon' and 'weapons system' mean a device capable of any of the following: (ii) Inflicting death or injury on, or damaging or destroying, a person (or the biological life, bodily health, mental health, or physical and economic well-being of a person)--(III) by expelling chemical or biological agents in the vicinity of a person."

Here, of course, the word "vicinity" would need further definition. But chemtrails fit the bill (pun intended) as a weapons program that is threatening the biological life, bodily health, mental health, and the physical and economic well-being of millions of people.

HR 2977 has a lot to be desired as a bill in relation to chemtrails. This in no way negates the fact that chemtrails have been named as an exotic weapon in a congressional document.

For battle weary chemtrail researchers and activists, this is very important. Whether Rep. Kucinich intended it or not, he has handed us the can opener to the biggest can of worms he has probably ever seen. We intend, with our flags in hand, and as loud a voice as can be collectively gathered, to open the can. -LK

Dear Jeff:

I would like if I may to add a few comments to Lori Kramer's excellent post. Everyone interested in this issue needs to read this bill and print it out if they can. It's important first of all to understand exactly what is in it, and this is not difficult. Next I would implore every person who has experienced ongoing frustration and/or outright physical suffering from these secret programs to pick up the telephone and call your representative as soon as possible. DO IT. There has never been an opportunity like this one before. Each representative of course has a copy of this bill and is obliged to know what is in it. We finally have the naked word itself- "CHEMTRAILS"- on a document being read by our elected officials. Please do not let this chance go by. For the first time you can speak to your representatives with the power of a government document in your own hand. Using this one simple and suddenly "legal" word, you can politely and intelligently explain your concerns and they will be obliged for a change to listen.

I would also like to offer some technical advice to all concerned citizens as to the best way to be effective. Calling your representative and becoming upset about a plot to kill people, for instance, would be the worst possible tactic to take. I just got off the telephone with an aide in my representative's office. You too can expect to speak to an aide rather than your representative, and please take that person very seriously. How this person receives your communication will determine exactly how and if it will be passed on to your representative. The way you present your case will determine whether you are written off as just another crank or listened to seriously as a reasonable human being with a leg mate complaint. Think out ahead of time about what you are going to say. Be very matter of fact and concise. And above all, remain calm. Do not lose your temper, insult anyone, or offer any unproven theories as to the ultimate purpose of chemtrails. These would all be seriously counterproductive actions. What matters here is legitimizing the years of private efforts of a relatively small number of people who have worked so hard on behalf of every citizen of this country. Therefore, if you care about the issue itself, please refrain from making things worse for our cause by indulging in emotional reactions and exotic theorizing, however personally satisfying such behavior might be to you in the short run. Please believe it: how we naturally feel about chemtrails is no guide to the best way to speak intelligently and therefore effectively to government representatives about our concerns.

It would be of enormous value if everyone in this country who cares about this issue would also seize the day and write reasonable letters to as many elected officials as possible, using this bill as a foundation and a talking point. It's not hard to write a short letter asking that the existence of chemtrails once and for all be admitted. Because this is the first step in the long process of disclosure. It is certainly rational to point out that we are funding this project, and the continuing denial of its existence in the face of blatant reality is entirely UNACCEPTABLE.

This is a great opportunity for all of us to unite at the same time, around the same event, and therefore finally to make our concerns heard. I pray that we have the collective sense to use this golden opportunity, and to use it wisely.
