We need justice for... "The victim of the insurance firm, the victim of the pharmaceutical (victim of Israeli violence, the poor and beaten Catholic in Northern Ireland suffering as a second class citizen in his own land." I agree with your post, Mr Herman. We've entered an era of unaccountability. Our governance structure has become ever more unmoored, detached from the needs of its citizens. Sociopaths respect violence. I don't think Netanyahu or his Likud party will change until violence reaches their doorstep. CEOs won't change until the violence of the pandemic is visited upon them in turn. I tried to give money to the Canadian Truckers during COVID but was prevented from doing so by changes to the online donation platform. I might be more willing to support subversives if I could do so discreetly. Having said that, violence should be a last resort. For example, divestment of US investments in Israel should make a return. It is not just an apartheid state, it is a genocidal state. The governmental bodies responsible for incorporating and regulating should DISSOLVE corporations that are behaving badly. Fuck the shareholders good and hard for profit over humanity. The US population must regain control of their governance. I am not sure if this will be done. It is said, "If voting worked, we would be prevented from doing so." Individual acts of violence can lead to anarchy, and the surveillance state will do everything it can to bring about chaos and violence. You and Tim Dillon, among others, are fairly black pillers. We need to look unblinkingly at the darkness that seeks to engulf us and speak our truth, if nothing else. C

when the justice system breaks down to being fully corrupt, to the extent they will not prosecute obvious criminal activity, then violence to correct the situation is the only choice. There are no other choices.

excellent response and one I treasure.
