I never considered taking the C-jabs as the mRNA technology was never proven safe or effective prior. But many I know took them. Many friends and family members have died or become injured from these shots which are not vaccines but gene therapy. What is infuriating is that most doctors refuse to discuss any of this. Whether it was intentionally done, or it was ignorance of what could happen, pure carelessness or the lack of diligence, whatever caused this horror, something needs to be done to help the jab injured. Fear induced mandates and pressure from society to take an untested shot that had no proof of anything positive is just plain wrong. I find it a nightmare that we're ignoring those that are suffering I cannot wrap my head around how low, horrific and inhumane this entire topic is. Thanks for the article! It's very informative and brings much to light. I lost my husband who succumbed to Pfizer's poison C-jabs. In just 10 days after diagnosis of two cancers he was taken from his family. I believe everyone involved knew it wasn't safe and the CDC and the entire medical political media cartel of liars took part in this catastrophic event named COVID! May they all rot in hell for allowing and pursuing these atrocities and their overwhelming crimes against humanity. Now walk in my shoes and see how you feel about this. Maybe you were lucky and received just saline, maybe not. But never tell me this was right about Covid ever made sense! So I refused!!!!!! I will always refuse!!!!

The same group of diabolical folks that foisted this upon us are NOT going to help now. We are on our own. Parallel systems (buy local food, educate on alternative health protocols etc). Finally, screw voting....IF it mattered, they would have done it already.

I am sorry to hear of your husband, yet another person killed or damaged by these anti-genetic treatments--I know several personally. And the damage goes beyond even the grief we have for those we care for even though we are unvaccinated. Yet turbo cancer is still officially denied, scientifically claimed unproven, as well as the recurrence of once-treated cancers. What a load of hooey! At the oncology waiting room, after the jab was available to everyone, I saw younger people now increasingly there when before it was all middle aged and older. I spoke with a lovely woman who had been declared cured only to have the cancer suddenly return and reach stage 4 rapidly before discovered. What has been inflicted on everyone. And now we see these transhuman-forming shots being given in flu shots. I don't condone such things, but stupid Luigi Mangione shot the wrong person.

Dear Dr.,

My refusal of the vaccine back in 2020 was based on literature research I'd previously un for an unrelated issue. My daughter-in-law is from Brazil. When visiting her family she co Dengue Fever. Almost everyone in her family has had it at least once. Given her report o prevalence in Brazil and the high fatality among poorer residents who couldn't afford hea was curious why a vaccine hadn't been developed. What I found were multiple attempts mRNA to create a vaccine for "break-back" fever that had all been abandoned during anir because 100% of test animals died from the mRNA. That was filed away in my mind until vax was foisted on the world.

Flat out dangerous.

Thank you for your continuing research and publications.

I DO NOT accept the hypothesis that the "vaccines" for Covid were innocently presented 'turned out badly'. The evidence of fraud and malfeasance, cover-ups and coercion would be there if this was all an "innocent miscalculation" of scientific matters. No. This Covid fraud was intentional. The deaths and destruction following were intended. Efficacy was negative, fraudulently passed off as over 90% efficacy. Many were deceived. Many still are deceived unfortunately, and many are dead or dying because of it, while certain folk BRAG ABOUT SUCCESSFULLY REDUCING THE POPULATION. I was entirely correct six years ago when I said that..."Protein misfolding is going to be the huge problem going forward". One must be a fool to be suggestible to believe this "pandemic" was not planned carefully and executed with intention. I am also very wary of limited hangouts... i.e. alternative 'explanations' offered to hide the truth. In other words, dissembling. I consider the attempts on my life to be premeditated, attempted by state sanctioned actors. THE EVIDENCE IS OVERWHELMING. Additionally, Aaron Siri's "Vaccines, Amen" documents the FACT that virtually ALL "VACCINES" in use for human beings HAVE NEVER BEEN TESTED AGAINST A TRUE PLACEBO. We are being played by dangerous, genocidal people. You can tell them by their fruit. They are guilty of first degree murder, regardless of who sanctioned them and their evil insult against humanity, and granted them immunity from prosecution. GUILTY.

Here is just one example that lends credence to what you're saying here: Only weeks into the job program, VAERS reports were already off the charts. If the intent of the jobs was to help people (and make a ton of money in the process), they would have shut them down immediately and there. They didn't. They ignored the deaths and the serious injuries which show that the very least helping people was not one of their motivations. The fact that they continued the program knowing it was killing people makes them guilty of mass murder, and therefore the people we're dealing with here are beyond sinister.

I am not vaccinated, but having an early covid infection weakened my gut. I had colitis flare up ever since. I later contracted an alpha gal allergy from a tick bite. Eating an alpha gal free diet has not eliminated my gut inflammation. I eat very clean from scratch and have done so for my adult life. I am also breastfeeding so I haven't been dabbling in supplements. Recently started drinking raw potato/cabbage juice twice a day, first thing in the morning on an empty stomach 15 minutes before eating, and again on an empty stomach before bed. Within a day I felt relief, better digestion and I feel like I am slowly detoxing my gut. There is a little research on raw potato juice therapy, and it is a low cost, low risk intervention.

What a beautifully constructed and complete article, thank you!

As you say, malice or malfeasance. I think it is malice from those who created it, malice to people, and that may be broken down into deliberately hurting people's health, just to see what happens, and malice based on profit. Malfeasance - I would assign that to those in the medical profession who blindly - or deliberately - pushed the jabs. And then there is the sheer stupidity of the celebrity cohort. I would not take medical advice from a politician OR an actor. FFS. I have distrustfully avoided prescriptions, x-rays (80, still have not had, and never will have, a mammogram) and "vaccinations".

I was a firm Nope from the very start. I do believe that those who embraced the jab will survive no matter how much evidence of injury is presented, that the jab was and is worth it because it saved trillions of lives. A totally unproveable statement - and, really, I think 98 percent of all medical reporting might be faulty - and so will keep on getting boosters and jeering at us un-jabbers. Heads will roll. There is too much money to be made.

I recently returned from Japan and completed 3 weeks of the McCairn-Edogawa treatment 2 weeks post-treatment.

My understanding is that they do not use direct stem cells, as mentioned here. They use Derived Secretome (Stem Cell Growth Factors). They're using signaling molecules harvested from cultured mesenchymal stem cells (dental pulp-derived SHED cells — stem cells from human exfoliated deciduous teeth).

At 2 weeks post treatment, my biggest improvement seems to be more oxygen delivery to my muscles. I credit the DFPA (Double Filtration Plasmapheresis) treatments that removed the fibrin-like clots in my blood. Hoping for continued improvement with the Stem cell growth factor treatment that I received.

I already tried a lot of the recommendations here, or know others who have tried some of them with no benefit.

I am in Africa, in Egypt. I commend MWD for bringing up the subject of Africa. A continent 3.75 times greater in area than contiguous USA and with 4.5 times as many people.

There was no Covid in Africa outside the pseudo-Western country of South Africa. And all one took the toxic fake vaccines. The data of the WHO is entirely fictitious. In the war-torn starving country of Sudan, they claim that half the population took the shots. Laughable.

I have never heard of anyone in Egypt catching the "virus". It was 100% a psychological test operation. That is how the fake virus appeared simultaneously in so many different countries. A test for a non-existing virus told many people that they were unwell - despite the lack of evidence. It is a proven fact that people will fall ill if they are persuaded by professionals that they are. Others were unwell for other reasons and were told that it was Covid. 😊

No one has ever succeeded in transmitting any "infectious disease" in a scientific test. It is sad to see MWD succumb to such an obvious fraud. But then doctors have families to feed.

AMD: Continued gratitude to you and all honest practitioners and others behind the scene repeatedly encourage my husband by saying, "Yes, there are many bad guys. But there are many GOOD GUYS who are fighting hard for truth."

I am wondering if vaccines may have started for the public good, but quickly became hijacked by the power mongers as a means to control people, and for enormous profit.

Given few if any are really effective, effectiveness continues to be an issue, and they continue to invest tremendous money into vaccines, suggests to me that in the bigger picture it has more to do with public health and everything to do with control and money. And if I am correct, it is evolving into a way to manipulate the very essence of each of us as an individual at a DNA level.

That is why they have been promoted almost like a religion to the public. Psyops, continuing the fear of illness and death with vaccinations being the "Savior." They create the illness and then offer us with the solution. Vaccines.

Now, it is quite obvious to anyone with eyes to see and ears to hear, that our medical system was initially for the good of the sovereign human being - has been kidnapped and weaponized as another form of control.

It is difficult to wrap one's mind around this to accept it as it is so scary. So, humans being and sadly, remain in the pot - not as "smart" as a frog!

Weaponization of vaccines and the medical system seems to be running in parallel with "Technocracy." Writings on "Technocracy" discuss its beginnings in the 1920's. This is with the technology we have today. As I understand it, globalists conferred with President Roosevelt about turning the country over to corporate globalists to run. He declined at that time, but at our current system of government that is really a uniparty and controlled by whoever has the most money, the globalists of the 20's have achieved their goals.

Thank you, again, for all that you do!

PS: My husband and I were watching college football and have noticed this before: Pharma companies are the majority of the commercials. Now, a lot of companies are advertising for psoriasis (an autoimmune disease), and I commented that psoriasis must be increasingly likely a side effect of the Covid 19 shot.

Many questioning people believe vaccines were deliberately created to lower the population. Vaccine manufacturers inject toxic substances into the human bloodstream... claiming they increase immunity? People were more intelligent, before they were injected with too many damaging their brains. People, in the past, knew injecting arsenic into the bloodstream was considered murder. Now, Vax providers use cancer-causing formaldehyde, graphene oxide virus⁴⁰, polysorbate⁸⁰, ethanol, brain-damaging aluminum sulfate and thimerosal (mercury detergent, , and a slew of other noxious items that should not be in the human bloodstream. What does our government do? Our Congress gifted the vaccine industry with The National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act of 1986 and the Prep Act of 2005, which REMOVED ALL LIABILITY for injury and murder. I have been waiting 6 years for an article like this.

Finally someone has taken the trouble to cut through the deceptions, distractions, marketed passed off as "science", the truth about side effects, shedding, spike protein regeneration persistence and tell us what has really been going on.

As expected, it's not good.

However, the warnings, detailed explanations, red flags like the, to me, unexpected high rates after intercourse, particularly with an unvaccinated partner, all point to the insidious nature of the vaccine design strategy itself. That's the troubling part, that much of this was known in advance and was done by design, by intention. One has to question the motivations.

PLEASE FORWARD THIS ARTICLE TO CONGRESS AND TO ANY FORTHCOMING NUREMBERG TRIALS.

Stay grounded (barefoot touching the earth). Watch every morning sunrise/sunset for 15 to 20 minutes. No glasses at those times and never wear sunglasses. Be outdoors as much as possible. Exposed to sunlight but not burning. Even sunlight in the shade is beneficial. Avoid unnecessary EMF. Use Blue-light screens and bulbs the best you can. "Any health problems or deaths after the shots need to be looked at." indeed!!!

You're aware of how they hid most of the deaths, right? If someone died prior to two after their second shot, that death or injury was NOT attributed to the "vaccine"! It was recorded as a covid death! The way they justified that is by saying the shots don't give immunity till 2 weeks after the second shot, so if someone died prior to that date, then from covid.

Speaking to the overlap in treatments that share some success for CFS and Covid vaccine

For my own CFS, I have been extensively researching how psychotropic meds (particularly neuroleptics and ssri's) interfere with specific mitochondrial respiratory complexes.

Being that the prevalence of prescribing psychotropics is unbelievably high (it's likely that a portion of vaccine injured people are on these meds), and doctors' awareness of psychot-induced mitochondrial issues is frighteningly low, I believe it would be beneficial if more doctors were aware of this and factored it into the treatment equation.

Nobody will ever convince me this was accidental, or they were incompetent. I believe it was a deliberate injection to hurt and kill people. I believe this whole thing was not supposed to be unleashed on the world until much later, but I think they did it in 2020 to hurt Trump, to throw a wrench in his presidency, much like he (and those of us who voted for him) threw a wrench in the wretched and evil plan had Hillary won.

That's a ton of information.... But still leaves a lot of people with questions.... What if someone wants to try these things, whether it be illness post infection or post injection?? Like DMSO, sulodexide or sublingual ketamine?? Peptide injections? The link doesn't provide for how any of those.... How would a person know how much DMSO to use? A lot of us, as you state, are on our own without the help of family or practitioners who have a clue... So we need to be able to obtain these therapies on our own. Can you provide some options? Thanks.

1) I've written 10+ page things on how to obtain and source DMSO in dozens of articles like in this one:

<https://www.midwesterndoctor.com/p/dmsso-heals-blood-vessels-and-could>

It's not really appropriate to put all of that in here too since this is already very long.

2) I linked to Scott Marsland's website since he has a lot of the harder to get things for

3) With a lot of the things in here, you can find them with google, or they are prescriptions you have to see a provider who offers them.

4) About 70% of what I covered in here is offered in Pierre Kory's practice to their patients

While dutifully lined-up to get the jab in the midst of COVID hysteria, I was required to sign a piece of paper that said the vaccine was experimental and had not been through the usual protocol testing before government approval. This gave me pause but after a few moments of reflection the doom and gloom about COVID killing me overruled my common sense that told me there was some sort of fishy business. I relented, signed the piece of paper, got the jab and still got away with it a few weeks later. I posted my experience on Facebook which amended my post with a reference to other sources describing the efficacy and necessity of the vaccine. I don't know what would have happened had I not gotten the vaccine but I do wonder about the long-term health effects.

I'm a little confused about Dr Kory's ketamine reasoning... You say his rationale is that the underlying problem is a neurological imbalance. Maybe I'm missing something but I thought the underlying problem was the amyloid clots? It seems if the problem stems from the clots you would need to somehow dissolve them or remove them. Perhaps you or he could elaborate further on the topic?

Here is what we focus on if helpful to others:

DMSO

Chlorine Dioxide

GcMaf

Plenty of sun / near infra red sauna therapy

Grounding

Animal based diet (eliminate seed oils / chemicals in our food)

Dry fasting (up to 3 days)

Melatonin

I'm 46 and feel like I'm in my early 30s. Six pack abs with only 4 x 15 min kettlebell work a week. Lots of energy and focus.

How on earth can any of this be accessed? It costs $3500 to say Good Morning to Dr. Kory. Likely one of his staff. With no guarantee at all that anything will be received in return.

Just something relatively simple like trying low dose ketamine. Are there 100 doctors in U.S. who would go along with this? How many of them allow the public to know they are in the game?

I once knew a street drug dealer who personally knew his chemists and had visited their laboratories and certified that his products were above pharmaceutical grade. I believed I was ten years deceased. I once knew a professor of endocrinology, original PhD in pharmaceutical chemistry. Which she abandoned because it was basically a criminal enterprise. If she died, a colleague who had a supply of ketamine she would make some for me. Again deceased. Without that sort of personal contact I have no idea how any of this could be possible.

Forget stellate ganglia or plasmapheresis or UVBI. Just getting a scrip for low dose doxepin is a daunting exercise unless one has inside connections.

So far as I can tell except for diet and exercise (or not) everything in this very long post is behind a closed door.

I sorted everything by accessibility and affordability, and the majority of things I listed are accessible without significant funds or a physician. Kory's practice prioritized finding ways for people to get therapies because they were seeing lots of other people spend savings on things that didn't work. At the same time, this illness is complex enough that it often can't be DIY'd all of it yourself.

We use supplements because we can get them.

Medical care? Can't get that. "Standard of care" is the most that is available. To the privileged. The rest of us can't even get that. Not that we want it.

For the time energy and support he gives people, he has one of the cheapest integrative medical practices in the country. In standard medical care (which insurance covers), all the costs are covered (by many people paying insurance reciprocally, a lot of what the practice does goes into catering to insurance checking boxes on forms) which results in very little time being spent with patients beyond briefly going through a checklist), along with the fact the doctors cannot go outside the standard box.

This is why most people with complex illnesses will spend at least 50,000 (or more) on integrative health providers, who normally have to charge this because they do not have insurance to pay their expenses and there are a lot of people who are willing to pay those amounts for a chance of getting better.

Kory put a lot of work into finding a way to make his practice work for people and be affordable and then be very strict about continually looking at their data and the things with the highest probability of working.

Also, I have read that it's the lipid nano particles aka nanotechnology that is the real prob in the shots and the narrative is to call out the spike protein as the problem. This prevents precious nanotechnology from being demonized.

I highly suspect that the TCM meridians and the Bong-Han Primovascular system are terr structures in the interstitum/ECM (extra cellular matrix) that serve to transport stuff much underwater deep sea ocean currents. They are disrupted by the spike protein and cause issues we are seeing. If this is the reason people are in pain it could explain why shedding you so badly despite small load on actual cells and blood vessels.

For the actual ocean currents, they're so powerful and consistent that baby turtles use th from Florida to Europe and then back again as adults.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ocean_current

<https://xray-mag.com/content/sea-turtles-surfin-g-ocean-highway>

Anyways, my reasoning is that the Covid at the very least causes hyaluronan dysfunction hyaluronan is one of the key regulators of the ECM. An ECM that creates transport gradie necessary to human flourishing being disrupted explains a lot of what we are seeing. In fa hyaluronan dysfunction is related to arthritis, joint pain, dry eyes and dry skin it's no surpr this in long Covid.

UVBI had a direct impact on interstitial functions. They directly tested the clearance time in people before and after UVBI, sub dermally ie interstitially, and it went back to normal. decay period of eliminating ¹³¹I from an intradermal depot could be normalised under the of ultraviolet own blood irradiation. ". Blood tends to be the superstar in UVBI for the obvi that you're irradiating it but the tiny quantity irradiated means it's not the blood where the happening. I believe it's the interstitium pathways being repaired by the UVBI, speculative zeta potential or Gerald Pollack 4th state of water shenanigans.

<https://pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/6182067/>

The interstitial fluid also readily is photo-oxidized by UV and, more vitally for our discussi transfers the UV effect throughout like fluids, accounting for the whole body feel-good ar propagation of effect. It could be as simple as UVBI -> vascular glycocalyx -> rest of the interstitial system.

"Suction blister fluid is a good representative of the interstitial fluid feeding the epiderma Lipoproteins contained in the suction blister fluid of healthy volunteers are readily photo-UV radiation in the wavelength range 290-385 nm. [...]it is suggested that the radical cha of the lipid peroxidation can transfer the initial photodamage at sites not directly suscepti photo-oxidation"

<https://pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/8683399/>

And conversely the spike protein damages the vascular glycocalyx which leads to the ass clots and drop in zeta potential. This one was pretty obvious from anyone reading clot rep less obvious one is that one of the contributors is messed up hyaluronan (HA) pieces.

<https://pmc.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/articles/PMC9734751/>

" This report provides evidence that the glycocalyx becomes significantly damaged in pa COVID-19 and corresponds with severity of disease. Circulating HA fragments and hyalur signatures of glycocalyx injury, strongly associate with sequential organ failure assessme and with "

<https://insight.jci.org/articles/view/147472>

And here's my slam dunk: there is evidence that Lyme Disease (closely associated to long symptomatically) works primarily through and from the ECM in it's lifetime and that the al

it leaves behind persists even after the disease is cleared. First, Lyme tunnels through the interstitium.

"Early studies established that B. burgdorferi moves through the collagen-rich dermis using motility states, such as translocating, lunging, wriggling, and non-motile, that are governed by transient ECM adhesion and matrix density (39) (Figure 2). These adhesion-detachment events reveal motility as a mechanosensitive behavior rather than merely flagellar-driven propulsion." <https://pmc.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/articles/PMC9846981/>

Then Lyme grabs decorin from the interstitium, decorin, and even thrives in it. There's an implication that Lyme colonizes the ECM and operates from there. "We show that B. burgdorferi was better protected in the joints and skin, two tissues with a higher decorin expression, than in the bladder and heart, two tissues with a lower decorin expression, during chronic infection of mice. Targeted disruption of decorin alone completely abolished the protective niche in chronically infected decorin-deficient mice but did not affect the spirochete burden during early infection." <https://pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/10094620/>

<https://pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/15331421/>

And lastly for the post-Lyme state, the body still has autoimmune responses to the ECM that Lyme was living in and moving through. This means that the Lyme diseases sufferers simply have had their interstitium wrecked with tons of structures Lyme built that they can't break down and thus blocks any formation of normal functioning pathways, perhaps akin to a blood clot.

"we identified T cell epitopes from 3 extracellular matrix (ECM) proteins in patients with postinfectious LA, identified potential Borrelia burgdorferi-mimic (Bb-mimic) epitopes, characterized T and B cell responses to these peptides or proteins. RESULTS Of 24 postinfectious LA patients, 58% had CD4+ T cell responses to at least 1 epitope of 3 ECM proteins, fibronectin, laminin B2, and/or collagen Va1, and 17% of 52 such patients had antibody responses to at least 1 of these proteins".

<https://pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/37471146/>

In conclusion I think the diseases being discussed here are interstitial diseases that we've begun to understand and all the treatments listed repair that particular homeostasis that's necessary for human flourishing. I even briefly looked up the other treatments to double check and yes, there's evidence for a bonus round to see if the other treatments act strongly on the ECM. Ivermectin

"A hypertrophic scar (HPS) is characterized by abnormal cell proliferation and the overproduction of extracellular matrix. [...] ivermectin was able to suppress the phosphorylation of SMAD3. the present study further investigated whether ivermectin exhibited antifibrotic effects on fibroblasts. "

<https://pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/33955514/>

Ketamine

"The neural extracellular matrix (ECM) plays an important role in regulation of perisomatic GABAergic inhibition and synaptic plasticity in the hippocampus and cortex.[...] ketamine rats exhibit reduced number of WFA-labeled perineuronal nets, and a decreased intensity of parvalbumin fluorescence in mPFC interneurons somata. Moreover, we found an increase in expression of CS56 immunoreactive form of ECM. Importantly, the loss of perineuronal nets was revealed in the mPFC, and was not detected in the hippocampus, suggesting regional specific ECM alterations"

I have poured through your extensive work on DMSO, searching for an answer to the question whether someone who has had IOL implants following cataract surgeries can safely use DMSO topically and/or orally. My husband had two mRNA injections in 2021 from particularly bad COVID (very high rates of severe injuries), and has experienced a pronounced worsening of his glaucoma. Most recently, he spent a week in the hospital with a team of neuro-opthamologists trying to figure out why he's lost significant vision. After multiple scans, x-rays, and dozens of tests, they've concluded that autoimmunity is causing the inflammation they see on the MRI (everywhere, not just optic nerves). He completed 5 days of high-dose methylprednisolone and was discharged, with prescriptions for 6 months of oral steroids, 3 months of antibiotics, and 3 months of a PPI (Protonix), and 3 different kinds of eye drops. Plasma electrophoresis was considered but the steroid therapy was effective in restoring some vision and relieving his pain. If DMSO is an option for my husband's case, we would love to be able to use it and avoid the risks posed by these conventional drugs.

No one has had issues using 3% eye drops with IOLs, higher concentrations may create an issue (is not known). 3% works for many eye conditions, although higher % is sometimes advised for more serious ones.

So to be safe, you can do 3% (away from any other pharmaceutical eye drops), but I would consider it if it's worth taking a possible risk of DMSO affecting the lens to use a higher % than 3%.

It seems the mRNA juggernaut has not faltered in the face of public awareness. The product going on like nothing at all is wrong.

Only 16% of American adults took the Covid jab last winter. But the FDA just approved a formula of the familiar spike-protein gene therapy - one kind from Pfizer, two from Moderna.

an "adjuvanted" vax from Novavax. (Since all of them use adjuvants, does this mean a tur charged adjuvant?)

These are recommended for everyone 5 years and up who suffer from already-challenge systems. What could possibly go wrong?

<https://www.vaccineadvisor.com/news/fda-approves-2026-2027-covid-19-vaccines-xf/>

Then there is the new, self-sustaining "replicon vaccine", aka saRNA, which was rolled out two years ago. AMD mentioned it and I looked it up. It is now approved for Europe. The m advantage is one dose lasting for one year.

I asked AI how this differs from mRNA shots. Answer: It produces the same nasty spike pr "for a significantly longer duration and in much higher quantities per molecule."

Is that reliable? I don't know, because the AI lied to me about mRNA:

"Conventional mRNA is translated once, peaks rapidly, and degrades quickly, with most o vaccine RNA clearing out within days. saRNA continuously prints new copies of the spike template inside the cell. This leads to sustained, high-volume spike protein production th lasts for days to several weeks."

IF this is accurate, it's not just a spike protein replicated in a cell, but a spike-protein fac into the cell. That is scary. Since we already know that the mRNA spike proteins don't de "within days", but last for months and possibly years -- the mass-producing clones of sal go on for the next 3-5 years... and at a "high-volume" rate which could dwarf the adverse seen with mRNA.

But no worries... they are already testing a lipid-reinforced saRNA nasal spray for flu strai casually marketed "as a potential pandemic response tool."

<https://www.nature.com/articles/s41467-025-64829-6>

My fond hope is that all these companies will go bankrupt because too many people will k enough to refuse taking the stuff.

Speaking of which, the Japanese are busy analyzing the "problem of vaccine hesitancy" i their citizens. But it seems they are not out to discover why 85% of them say they definit probably won't be vaxxed in a future pandemic. They want to figure out what "conditions" them to take the vax anyway.

Professor Francis Boyle (recently deceased), a specialist on biowarfare/bioweapons, wrote extensively on the origins of the SARS-CoV-2 virus, back in February of 2020. He laid out from DOD to Ralph Baric's BSL-3 bioweapons lab at UNC Chapel Hill where he performed function work on the virus, to Dr. Shi Zheng-Li, director of the Center for Emerging Infectious Diseases at the WIV (otherwise known as 'Bat Woman' because of her extensive research on type coronaviruses of bat origin), who was given samples of the weaponized virus by Baric back to Wuhan with her. Boyle stated that the CCP gave UNC a very generous grant in the supplying them with the modified virus.

My understanding is that this was intentionally done to create the pandemic planned at Johns Hopkins' "Event 201" (and earlier with other groups within DOD/DARPA and other agencies) plans for exerting almost full control over American citizens.

I can only speculate that the DNC, Obama, and various administrative state actors saw it as an excellent opportunity to do what Oregon had done back in 2004, where we Oregonians were given the normal ability - and right - to vote at the polls, by being forced to vote only via mail-in. We have seen what happened to the people of Oregon since then (I left in 2008, after my wife retired from the Roseburg VA hospital where we both worked, she as a medical technologist and an RN), with the government completely in the hands of the Democrat Left, holding a supermajority in the legislature, a Democrat governor, and a state Supreme Court controlled by progressive justices.

The Left obviously understood that mail-in ballots would prevent Trump from being reelected and return the reins of power to the Left - into the hands of Team Obama and the Autopen. For many others were already in position to work hand-in-hand with Pharma to play with genetic modification of humans on a massive scale, bringing in billions in profits, liberally shared with
