

rules for routing radicals

EL GATO MALO SEP 26  466  227  63

insurgency is not governance

Read →

227 Comments

1

Write a comment...

bad cattitude re

VikingMom  Thoughts from a Viking Mom Sep 26

 Liked by el gato malo

The funniest part, IMHO, is the fact that the bar was losing money, hand over fist, because Woke crowd is permanently and perpetually broke! They do not have jobs, they have never worked in the real world, and thus, they believe that they should be given free drinks, free food, and unlimited "entertainment" because they are SO disadvantaged!

The one owner who is left, who is $50K in debt, just learned the first rule of Econ 101 - TA (There ain't no such thing as a free lunch!)

If she has any sense at all she will run, as far and fast as she can, away from these people and begin a personal journey to understand why she ever fell for this crap in the first place!!

 LIKED (117)  REPLY (7)

el gato malo ✓ Sep 26

Author

nothing lasting can be built on such foundations or by including such people.

this is why "winning" is the death of woke. it's tactics can be powerful as an insurgent a means of governance, they are inadequate to the point of self-disassembly.

♥ LIKED (47) 💬 REPLY (2)

Suzie ⚙️ Suzie Sep 26

Think Cuba.

♥ LIKE (15) 💬 REPLY (3)

DaveL ⚙️ DaveL's Substack Sep 26

Think Soviet Union.

♥ LIKE (10) 💬 REPLY (1)

No ⚙️ No Sep 26

Think California.

♥ LIKED (19) 💬 REPLY (1)

kertch ⚙️ The Kertch Chronicles Sep 26

Think Animal Farm

♥ LIKED (3) 💬 REPLY (1)

Roginald McBloginald Roginald McBloginald Sep 27

Think the US if the Republican Party doesn't get it's act toge

♥ LIKE (8) 💬 REPLY

JJ Sep 28

It's never worked ever. The hubris of these participation trophy types is kind of funny though. The fact that they have yet to realize that everyone is sick of their crap and that it took those of us who hate bullies and bullying to bully them and ridicule them back in their emboldened places to let the bystanders know there's a new standard is kinda hilarious. While there's nothing more repulsive than the average bystander who is only about the next thing and going along with it, even though they are aware of the heinous thing in which they were allowing to happen and have now found the bottom of their spines.

♡ LIKE (2) 💬 REPLY

KHP  KHP's Substack Sep 28

What's there to think of? Cuba is darn close to a nothing, compared to what it would be with decent governance.

♡ LIKE 💬 REPLY

Robert Edwin House Sep 28

They were never going to win anything anyways. Why do they always shoot the messengers? The ardent believers in any revolution? Because you can not rule with those people. Woke. Someone was always using woke, someone seeded it, someone nurtured it, and someone else unleashed it around 2016. Who? I was never worried about woke in the long run because people who can't do anything but complain are never a threat unless others around them act on the complaints. And to the readers here who smirk at woke but believe feeling woke isn't any different. You are sorely mistaken, it's the same thing.

♡ LIKE (1) 💬 REPLY

Warmek  Warmek Sep 26

Yup.

Rather than breaking down crying, the best option would have been to say something like these lines of: "You are absolutely right. I am a terrible, ablist, racist. As such, I can no longer in good conscience run what is supposed to be a safe space. Bar is closed. Best of luck to you all. I am handing the remaining stock of alcohol to another bar, hand the keys back to the landlord, and declaring bankruptcy. Move somewhere sane. (But nowhere near me, of course.)"

♥ LIKED (33) 💬 REPLY (2)

Andrew VanLoo  Musings on a Maniacal Macrocosm Sep 26

Annoyingly, they're moving to New Hampshire... we already have too many Mass

 LIKE (7)  REPLY (1)

Warmek  Warmek Sep 27

Yeah. My NH friends lament that. It's why I always thought the Free State P picking NH was a fool's errand. NH is far too surrounded by high population states, and it's far, far too easy to just drown NH's natural population. I guess I have tried to be more convincing in my arguments for NM. :-/

 LIKE (2)  REPLY (1)

Steve Steve Sep 29

That was the primary argument for choosing NH in the first place though, not them in Free Staters.

Also much better summers and winters than the second place choice, like... Wyoming. Ain't nobody choosing Wyoming. Well, the Cheneys, v probably another point against it!

 LIKE (2)  REPLY (1)

Warmek  Warmek Sep 29

Sure, but at the time, NM only had 1.5x the population of NH, and surrounded by TX, OK, CO (OK, not so great with that one), UT, and AZ. Also, it's a big state, surrounded by other big states, so there's a buffer. VT isn't a large gap to jump to get to NH from NY.

 LIKE  REPLY (2)

Giuseppe Corvo  Giuseppe Corvo Sep 30

And Vermont seems as bad as MA or CA for that matter.....Maverick reverts to the Puritan format.....perhaps somebody with deep historical knowledge can enlighten us

 LIKE (2)  REPLY

Steve Steve Sep 30

Yeah except NM and CO went blue, and AZ under Hobbs is not either.

One or two urban crapholes can ruin an entire damn state. But in the USA model is the "supreme capitol" with all state cities rendered subservient to it.

New England's commonplace Town Meeting format of government also have been seen as a positive for the FSP as it allows for direct voting.

LIKE (1)

REPLY (1)

Warmek Warmek Sep 30

I mean, no arguments about the misery that's infected NM the significant downsides of being a small population, particularly that one's federal elections are inexpensive to buy. CO was kinda leaning that way, but AZ is the real kicker. Though not impossible that Hobbs may face the music soon.

And the irony of NM is that the "Big City" isn't even the capital. Granted, Santa Fe is bluer than ABQ, but it's also a lot Moving versus Breeding demographics, it seems. Things got worse, swiftly, during Covid, when lots of people moved here were cheap (at least to start) and worked remote from ten million invaders across the southern border didn't help anything on that front, either.

LIKE (1)

REPLY (1)

Steve Steve Oct 1

Ten million? Try twenty million, maybe even twenty f
And here, in dopey sanctuary-land, the value of thei housing and food vouchers. exceeds the freakin' me income. And yet these idiots still whinge "But Trump
As if Xiden, he of the eternal mask and vaccine mar jawboning censorship, was somehow any LESS of a

LIKE (1)

REPLY

Cindi Cindi Sep 26

That bar could be in New Mexico too....

LIKE (2)

REPLY (2)

Cheryl Palen Sep 26

wth happened to New Mexico? Used to be full of ranchers and independen

LIKED (7)

REPLY (3)

KundaliniAndCellTowers KundaliniAndCellTowers Sep 26

Too many federal government employees and contractors.

LIKE (8)

REPLY (1)

Warmek Warmek Sep 27

looks around guiltily

LIKED (5)

REPLY

Cindi  Cindi Sep 27

They're still around in SE NM but the rural areas are totally swamped by Albuquerque & Las Cruces. In fact, a couple years ago SE NM got gerrymandered so that there is a portion of Albuquerque, 200 miles / 3 away that votes against OUR interests, & our national Republican rep (one for NM) was voted out in favor of a democrat. It is basically impossible for Republicans to win, deliberately so. FJB's former Sec of Interior, Deb Haaland is corrupt + dumb as a rock which of course means she'll probably be our governor. God help us...he hasn't so far.

 LIKE (5)  REPLY (1)

Warmek  Warmek Sep 27

I'm not sure how much actual Albuquerque got rolled into that district. I was pleased to discover that with my new house being in the South, I'm in NM 2. Which... either fortunately or *un*fortunately means I actually (Ugh!) win when I run for the House in '28.

I know I repeat that a lot in my comments. A... significant part of my goal is to build up my own momentum so I feel compelled to actually do what I don't actually want the job. I'm just sick of the people who keep running for it. But NM 2 is the one district that even conceivably might go to the challenger. The other two are pretty hard locked D.

As for Haaland... yeah. And the way she won her Congressional seat was pretty sketchy too. Another case of "And then, as if by magic, box ballots appeared!"

 LIKE (2)  REPLY (2)

Cindi  Cindi Sep 27

And you know the big city libtards will be wetting their pants to vote for the "1st Indian" (as in the more politically correct "Native American") AND a "woman" (if they can define one), as governor. No matter how corrupt, stupid & unqualified she is.

 LIKE (3)  REPLY (1)

Warmek  Warmek Sep 27

I do. I do. Alas. :-/

I really don't understand why we have so many people in this state who are so insistent on keeping the state poor.

LIKE (1)

REPLY

Cindi  Cindi Sep 27

Ultimately, I feel like it doesn't really matter "how much"; it is Albuquerque at all & in any configuration can vote for our interests miles / 3 hours away. Yvette Harrell, who reflected OUR interests that corrupt/DEI/DSA/defund police/open borders/ad nauseum Gab Vasquez after that gerrymander.... It wouldn't have happened w/out that. I will vote for you, if only I know who you are :-)

LIKE (2)

REPLY (1)

Warmek  Warmek Sep 27

Well, that's fair, and I don't honestly have a good idea of what the map looked like previously. That said, there are only so many people in a fairly large state, and most of them are primarily clustered in the middle. In order to have any hope of spreading them out evenly between three districts, that's going to require the grouping of people from significant distances.

Even in the absence of the bit that rises up to touch the Valley and Pajarito Mesa, you'd still have folks in Jalisco and the same district, and those are 342 miles apart in a straight line (effectively the entire east - west borders), and a much longer drive than three hours.

I certainly understand your point, though. Which is why one of the significant stretch goals should I be elected is to lower the ratio of citizens to representatives significantly, to bring it far closer to the original number of 1 representative per 30,000 people. The current ratio is only a matter of Federal law, not Constitutional limitation (the only limit it sets is on the minimum number of citizens a Representative may represent) so it's not nearly as big a pull as a constitutional amendment.

LIKE (2)

REPLY (1)

Cindi  Cindi Sep 28

If/when you run, give me some hint so I can vote for you!

LIKE (1)

REPLY (1)

Warmek  Warmek Sep 29

I strongly suspect that I will be the only individual Republican primary with a purple mohawk. ;)

LIKE (1)

REPLY (1)

Cindi  Cindi Sep 30

I found out a little more about how the gerrymandering of a couple of years ago in Roswell / Chaves County. I can't stand Gak & was looking forward to voting for his Dis challenger, Cunningham. Turns out the ge split the county into 3 separate districts & Cunningham's, so I can't vote for him. I wa someone in the local Republican Party tha only about 80 people in the whole county vote for Cunningham, which pretty much k that he'll lose. So will the challenger to tha awful DemoncRAT in District 1, Standsbury that works to keep even the conservative i of the state permanently blue now?!?

 LIKE (1)  REPLY (1)

Continue thread →

Crash Pile Sep 26

The whole state seems to think that the culture they should emulate is State capitol, so cool and edgy, celebrities and artists love it. Let's be l

 LIKE (3)  REPLY

Warmek  Warmek Sep 27

Well, that's sorta my point. It's not like I need any more of them near me..

 LIKE (2)  REPLY

AndyinBC  Sep 26

Prezactly, V. Mom.

The unfortunates who established their "refuge for the oppressed" neglected a key c in their marketing plan.

The target market - the unemployable and infinitely entitled, are not noted for larges disposable income.

Or any income, for that matter

And, as Gato continues to point out, they ALWAYS eat their own.

LIKED (27)

REPLY (1)

Rikard  Sep 26

I can testify to the fact that said kind of radicals don't spend (their own) money they have a stream of income.

Like some religious and ethnic groups I could mention they argue that they are s above whatever rules apply to everyone that is not them.

LIKED (15)

REPLY

George Bredestege  Grumpy Geo's Smoke Screen Sep 26

She should convert it immediately to a country western honkytonk with a gun range i With the publicity it's getting now, it could be solvent within a couple months. Odds a crazies would then firebomb it for real and the insurance would save her credit.

LIKED (10)

REPLY (1)

kertch  The Kertch Chronicles Sep 26

Gun range? In Massachusetts? That's like a bacon factory in Iran.

LIKED (7)

REPLY (1)

George Bredestege  Grumpy Geo's Smoke Screen Sep 27

Google it, there are more than you'd think. With the changes occurring bec recent and coming SCOTUS decisions, the rules there will be forced to loos

LIKED (3)

REPLY

Fedup737  Fedup737 Sep 27

You're all missing the punchline that the "lesbian" bar was cowed by a man (that as a woman). Maybe the analogy can be made about all the men winning women's sports? Or, the first "female" 4-star general was a man. Or...I think you get the point.

 LIKED (7)  REPLY (1)

JC  JC Sep 30

Yeh, from my knowledge of lesbian bars - this was NOT a lesbian bar but an LGF one. And the QIA++'s bullied the rest of the gig.

 LIKE (1)  REPLY

la chevalerie vit  vérité et chevalerie Sep 26

What are the chances she will say she has become more conservative as a result of experience?

 LIKED (4)  REPLY (1)

VikingMom  Thoughts from a Viking Mom Sep 26

I sure hope so, for her sake!!

 LIKE (4)  REPLY

Julinthecrown  Julinthecrown's Substack Sep 28

I imagine that everyone who was once a Dem/Lib/Progressive and had this epiphany Conservative.

 LIKE  REPLY

Rikard Rikard Sep 26

This quote seems apt as an entrée to the main course of objecting to your hypothesis that dead:

"That is not dead which can eternal lie, And with strange aeons even death may die."

As mentioned last thread, political correctness was a huge thing in the 1970s, but there was no internet and so it couldn't spread as much, nor had corporate capitalism adopted it the way it has done since ca 2005, and academia hadn't been infiltrated and co-opted to the degree it has in the 1990s.

What happened was that in 1984, everyone thought PC-culture was dead, mocked into oblivion by pundits and comics and entertainment-media and the sheer ridiculousness of its purveyors.

And then in the late 1990s and early 00s it returned with a vengeance:

Queer theory, Critical theory, racial grievance courses, new feminism, and the homosexual parade bunch suddenly becoming the darling of capitalism (remember the "pink dollar"-industry marketing?).

It's not dead. It's going dormant.

It will try to rise again.

Be ready, because the cycle of these things is dependent on the speed of communication rather than anything. When ideas only spread among the upper classes because books were rare and expensive, it took generations or even centuries. With books becoming commonplace it took decades, maybe only years, and the idea spread among the bourgeoisie as well. With newspapers and radio and TV it spread immediately to everyone.

With internet and spyphones in everyone's face all the time, an idea can die and return in the next fiscal quarter.

Not dead.

Woke is an enemy that cannot die.

LIKED (37)

REPLY (2)

el gato malo  Sep 26

Author

this feels like a blackpill semantic frame to avoid the actual issue and conclusion. the not that incentives can be removed from the world. the point is that this current mov self-immolate (and will stay gone for as long as we remember to stop listening to hal theater kid griveances)

 LIKE (33)  REPLY (2)

Pairedocs  Pairedocs' Collection of Heresy Sep 26

It took the Soviet Union 72 years and millions dead before it self-immolated. Altl extreme fringes of "woke" may become unfashionable, the left wing infiltration c education, the media, the arts, etc., is an ongoing problem--more so in western other than the USA. Grievance culture runs far deeper than "woke" absurdities. back and congratulate yourself just yet.

 LIKED (18)  REPLY (2)

Justin Kredibul Sep 28

I came here to voice the same observations that had occurred to me; you g first and said it better than I was about to.

 LIKE (1)  REPLY

rjt  rjt Sep 27

el Gato makes a nice argument for a certain latitude. You likely have the sar experience as we do locally, that a certain group of sensitive American phy: fled north to the woke welcoming warmth! of a nation with 95% TDS. As the orange man is external to the jurisdiction, and doesn't care for the defence poseur in power, there does not seem to be the same dynamic available.

 LIKE (1)  REPLY (1)

Pairedocs  Pairedocs' Collection of Heresy Sep 28

Exactly. Where I live, we seem to be descending further and further int "warmth of collectivism". And I fear the USA is only an election or two joining us.

 LIKE (1)  REPLY

Rikard Rikard Sep 26

Could you elaborate on how it is a semantic frame/framing?

LIKED (2)

REPLY (1)

el gato malo ✓ Sep 26

Author

you're using the idea of a thing to stand in for the functional effect of a thing claiming that "because there is still a measles virus, measles can never be controlled/gone." in an absolutist sense, sure, this is true of any human foible nearly all pathogens (smallpox being an interesting exception) but that's not as saying "we can kill this current movement." you're moving the frame of the off the relevant issue (current movement) and onto the frame of "you can not eradicate a form of human stupidity." but that's neither interesting nor practical here. we're talking about cultural ascendancy, not the perfection of human desires and the remaking of the human animal.

LIKE (14)

REPLY (2)

el gato malo ✓ Sep 26

Author

so "woke" is the semantic frame of this current manifestation. and it is this human foible emerge again? yes, but it won't be "woke" it will emerge something else.

LIKED (9)

REPLY (1)

Rikard Rikard Sep 26

Ah, so "political correctness" died and then was reborn as woke, woke is dying and will be reborn as something else.

Which is exactly what I was saying in the initial comment.

LIKED (10)

REPLY (1)

kertch  The Kertch Chronicles Sep 26

Yes, always something else. We can already see the new green shoots of collectivism growing front the rotting corpse of Woke. Will shoots grow into the next cult? Who knows? But "effective at" "democratic socialism" and other such ill-formed ideas are all trying to break out of the undergrowth and establish themselves. Different tree but same root.

 LIKED (7)  REPLY

Rikard Rikard Sep 26

That is a complete misrepresentation of what I was saying, and I don't understand how you can come to that conclusion.

 LIKED (4)  REPLY

Patricia GR  PATRICIA's Words of Wisdom, may... Sep 26

The first time I read your optimistic article (one of the first of yours I read) was the first time I had hope that we might get our world back. This piece and the story about the Mass bar cinches it. They are eating their young.

 LIKED (14)  REPLY

Skenny  Skenny's Substack Sep 26

"Disabled transgenders and immunocompromised lesbians ally with communists (and the Muslims) in demanding that fascist ablists mask up on Saturday night LBGT multi-gender hoedowns" was not on my bingo card for this Autumn.

 LIKED (22)  REPLY (1)

Fabes55 Sep 26

They're pretty creative when coming up with new intersectional categories. They have that continually because there is no end result, only constant rebellion. Once the category is no longer useful, it either gets subdivided (immunocompromised lesbians) or the mover

 LIKED (7)  REPLY (1)

JC JC Sep 30

I would choose the word "deconstruction" instead of "rebellion." I reckon we are rebels.

LIKE REPLY

Heyjude Heyjude Sep 26

It's premature to declare they have no source for new converts as long as they control what has always been their source for converts: the education system.

LIKED (19) REPLY

Dolce Far Niente Sep 26

A minor issue; how does one eat and drink in public if one is immunocompromised? I believe one must take the mask off, as must other people, so what does that say about actual "safety" for people afflicted with terminal I'mSorryForMyselfism?

The truly immunocompromised do NOT go out in public gatherings, nor do they assume everyone else has the obligation to protect their health status. Naturally, I am led to assume these people are cosplaying some disability because "lesbian" is no longer garnering enough sympathy, and "Immunocompromised" doesn't require proving to your doctor that you really need that disability license plate.

LIKED (15) REPLY (2)

golftdibrad Sep 29

the fact that this is about a bar, where one is there - by definition - to drink, that had a mandatory mask rule, where the mask has to come off to do aforementioned drinking, illustrates how broken the logic of these people are.

LIKE (3) REPLY (1)

SnowInTheWind SnowInTheWind Sep 29

Water molecules are even smaller than viruses. Couldn't they just suck it in through masks?

LIKE (1) REPLY

Curtis Curtis Sep 26

They're just making this stuff up as they go along. 🤪

♡ LIKE (3) 💬 REPLY

Ryan Gardner Ryan Gardner Sep 26

I actually agree with you here and its why I disagree that the Republicans will get "destroy midterms.

If I'm wrong ill admit it here. It'll be sufficient if you admit it in a DM....)

I guess we also have to define "destroyed".

This election comes down to the memory of 20'-24' (which includes peak woke) vs. gas p maybe a "K-shaped" economy) in approx 20 toss-up house seats.

Nothing more, nothing less

♡ LIKED (15) 💬 REPLY (2)

Skenny Skenny's Substack Sep 26

That a character like Talarico is a "legitimate" contender in a national election is as s Kamala having contended in a presidential election. This "clown" caucus draws a lot

♡ LIKE (17) 💬 REPLY (1)

DaveL DaveL's Substack Sep 26

Don't forget he's running against Paxton...

♡ LIKE (1) 💬 REPLY (1)

twztid13 twztid13 Sep 26

Who did a fantastic job in Texas as AG, IMO.

♡ LIKE (4) 💬 REPLY

Rikard Rikard Sep 26

And meddling with votes, surely?

I refuse to believe the Democrats and their backers would be content to leave it up to citizens of the USA to decide who they want as their representatives.

♡ LIKED (10) 💬 REPLY (1)

Ryan Gardner  Ryan Gardner Sep 26

Yeah. Votes don't count, but ballots do.

Thats the entire game.

 LIKED (12)  REPLY

Andrew_D  Andrew Devlin Sep 26

I was about halfway through when I suddenly thought that I should comment about that le insanity.

As I read more, I see that you were on point about it as well.

Perhaps great minds do think alike?

 LIKED (11)  REPLY

Felix  Sep 26

Oh Kitty Moses... have we really climbed the desolations to a Great Divide, that place where watersheds flow away to nourish greener pastures below? Possibly, even probably.

I would tell you of a dairyman that I did a job for, who was missing a thumb. He had killed rattlesnake and chopped off its head. When picking up the body parts for burial, the snake was still able to reflexively snap its jaws, nicking his thumb and injecting enough venom that damage resulted in amputation.

So whether the snake's heads are chopped off or they are striking their own, beware, it ain't till it's over and new snakes are yet wriggling out of institutional woodworks.

Oh, and the fellow liked my work, rewarded me with a full gallon of fresh, unpasteurized milk.

The fight IS worth the squeeze and patient faith.

 LIKED (9)  REPLY

My Dog's Name is The Dog  Sep 26

I actually live near that bar in Greenfield. I've been in it, long before it became what it was there's more context to this that me, your ever loyal undercover dog agent can provide w this story even more way more funny.

That bar is literally in a basement only accessible by stairs... so it's certainly not "handi-c that sort of crowd. So them promoting it as a "disability haven" is wild, unless someone is carry wheelchairs down and up ten feet of metal stairs that have a 90 degree turn.

Above the bar was a really good burrito joint that I would eat lunch at regularly... it was ru lesbians too.... they shut it down in '25 to create an "incubator lab for queer and black ch really good burritos though, went for 20+years, solid place, had friends who worked there rarely ever saw the owners.

(I also know someone who knows that "noooooo!!!" meme chick from Trump 1.0... she's a Western MA. and is surprisingly chill with her meme celebrity)

 LIKED (8)  REPLY

Flatulus Maximus  Flatulus Maximus Sep 26

Will woke die, or just go dormant? Darned if I know, but I like your theory! It is fun. Just try what happens. Personally, I've developed a sense of who not to engage on any level. I jus away. It's better for my mental health. But I'll take an occasional cheap shot when present the opportunity. Usually it's in the form of asking a seemingly innocuous question, and re angst of them not being able to deal with it.

 LIKED (8)  REPLY (1)

el gato malo  Sep 26

Author

you can never eliminate the idea of grievance theater. you can only develop an immu to it

 LIKED (9)  REPLY

Warmek  Warmek Sep 26 Edited

> when those agencies become immune and then outright hostile, growth becomes impossible no longer accept your claim to entitlement for grievance" renders the field sterile to them need to claim entitled grievance remains as the central tenet and status determinant of the movement.

OK, sure, but which agencies are demonstrating that immunity? I can certainly accept that the agencies are currently more resistant, but is there anything that's actually immune at yet?

I'm just trying to be argumentative, I just don't see the phenomenon you're describing.

Certainly, from my POV from somewhere within the NNSA, it looks like there's still a fairly chance I'd lose my job for not at least mostly playing along.

 LIKED (8)  REPLY (1)

el gato malo  Sep 26

Author

you seriously do not see the public mood here shifting and company after company taking this off and ignoring it or even using it to profit?

it's all around you from calvin klein to vicky secret to bud light pivoting hard to the market decline in DEI words in S+P 500 10-q's.

it's in the media and the discourse. the overton has moved and the social norms are in 2020, you could not have a sweeney. culture is the driver and it will win out. watch what happens when they try to shift these institutions back toward wokeward. it will shatter

 LIKED (13)  REPLY (6)

KundaliniAndCellTowers  KundaliniAndCellTowers Sep 26

Yes, but the war machine and illegal immigrant population carry on. I need more before I break out the champagne.

 LIKE (6)  REPLY

Warmek  Warmek Sep 26

Damnit, that was supposed to be "I'm not just trying to be argumentative", E facepalm

And no, I do see the general public mood shifting, but you talk about agencies immune, and I'm trying to parse that. Maybe I'm just too paranoid, or maybe the government is being sluggish in changing directions as always, and maybe that's what you meant by "agency". Plenty of institutions still have a ton of Woke left in them, particularly colleges and universities.

I mean, public mood on marijuana has been shifting for a quarter century, but it's still illegal at the federal level. What centers of power do isn't necessarily always very responsive to the public mood.

I dunno. Maybe I'm just a negative nelly. I'm not intentionally trying to be here. hope that you are correct.

 LIKED (5)  REPLY

Upstream  Upstream Sep 26

It's not a matter of institutions being shifted back wokeward. They never stopped woke. Look at the vast academic culture spread out across America, screaming hoarse about an imaginary "genocide" in Gaza. The students coming out of those institutions are and will be staffing our government agencies and businesses on boards for generations.

 LIKE (4)  REPLY

twztid13 twztid13 Sep 26

I just think that's cuz Trump is in office. Once he's gone, especially if a leftist rep we start all over again.

 LIKE (2)  REPLY

Upstream  Upstream Sep 26

Woke 1.0, championing D.E.I., may be losing some of its power, as you describe. is all around us, though, in America and Europe. It's the championing of, for example, Muslim Brotherhood's goals for the defeat and destruction of the West "by their miserable hands", i.e., liberal society's unlimited tolerance of the intolerant. Policies enabling jihad by immigration, defended by politicians and mainstream media. The Islam influence operation on American K-12 and higher education through mass investment. The simultaneous normalization of antisemitism/antiZionism. The Ralliance, e.g., the DSA, is the new Woke: Woke 2.0

 LIKE (2)  REPLY

Cheryl Palen Sep 26

Nike is going down fast...Bill Bowerman is cringing up in the blue heavens...

 LIKE  REPLY

Identology Identology Sep 26

It will never die. Such a mental disease just doesn't go away...

 LIKED (8)  REPLY (3)

el gato malo  Sep 26

Author

diseases die when they can no longer infect hosts.

stop being infectable and this ends.

 LIKED (26)  REPLY (6)

jabster  Punk For Modern Times Sep 26

I think the problem is that another generation comes along every so often that n chance to build immunity.

The young think that they have discovered everything for the first time. We're s with communism/socialism.

People need to be inoculated against nonsense to stop this cycle, every generat Instead, we have complicit ideological antivaxxers who see the bug as a feature.

 LIKED (13)  REPLY (4)

DaveL DaveL's Substack Sep 26

The young are also being indoctrinated by an education system saturated with "dying" ideology.

LIKED (8) REPLY (1)

jabster Punk For Modern Times Sep 26

That is the vector.

LIKED (3) REPLY

SCA SCA: The Best Bad Fairy You Kn... Sep 26

There is always a new religion to overtake the old one. Nothing is really sec

LIKED (4) REPLY (1)

jabster Punk For Modern Times Sep 26

There's a word for a "religion" that isolates people from their families, & question let alone dissent, shuns (or worse!) the apostate, and sometimes people to harm or death. It rhymes with "adult".

All they're missing is a punch bowl of Kool-Aid.

LIKED (4) REPLY (1)

SCA SCA: The Best Bad Fairy You Kn... Sep 26

Well yes but every time I observe that all of these--even the "mair ones--are cults, some people always get their panties in a twist.

If there is a received dogma, you're receiving cult membership.

I suspect from the wording of your own comment that you perhaps agree that mainstream religions are cults. If I recall some of my history correctly, there are Christian sects that no longer exist because the dominant sect of whatever era it was made sure to crush them out true throughout history.

Funny thing. Martyr Made's latest podcast/transcript on The Gern sent me to Wikipedia to refresh myself on Rosa Luxemburg 'n all that and it was just hilarious how many sects Marxism has divided itself just the same pattern all the damn time, ain't it?

LIKED (2) REPLY (1)

Andrew VanLoo Musings on a Maniacal Macrocasm Sep 26

At least Christianity has a founding book by which you can distinguish cults.

LIKED (2) REPLY (1)

SCA SCA: The Best Bad Fairy You Kn... Sep 26

Every cult has its foundational scriptures. L. Ron Hubbard with Scientology because he felt that if the Mormons could pull off a new religion so could he. Joseph Smith took the foundational documents of Christianity and ran with them. Islam took the foundational documents of Christianity and Judaism and ran with them. Christianity took the foundational documents of Judaism and ran with them. Judaism took all the fertile shoots of the Israelite Crescent and ran with them.

Buddhism is just Hinduism for guys who want to run away from home. Etc.

LIKE (1) REPLY (3)

JC  JC Sep 30

Hubbard had a bet with Heinlein, CS Lewis (I think, I about this one, but I knew there were 3) as to which successfully found a religion based on science fiction.

Heinlein succeeded with "Church of All Worlds" but got the prize.

LIKE (1)

REPLY (2)

jabster  Punk For Modern Times Oct 1

I always heard it was a comment from Hubbard Heinlein that the best way to get rich was to start a religion. AFAIK Lewis wasn't involved.

LIKE

REPLY

SCA  SCA: The Best Bad Fairy You Kn... Oct 1

And Scientology pretty much controls Hollywood. Hollywood's influence is everywhere.

LIKE

REPLY

Andrew VanLoo  Musings on a Maniacal Macrocosm

Having a book isn't the difference; what the book states on is. Most new religions begin with a revelation to a prophet which you take on his word. The New Testament states everything on a public event: a man executed under a Roman governor and seen alive afterwards by people who could be questioned. Paul says plainly that if it didn't happen, the thing is worthless. That's a claim you can test, not a claim you must swallow.

LIKE (1)

REPLY (2)

jabster  Punk For Modern Times Oct 1 Edited

If you base a religion on one man's testimony, y things like "Xenu is the only God and L. Ron Hu his prophet"

LIKE

REPLY (1)

Andrew VanLoo

Musings on a Maniacal
Macrocosm

Exactly correct. Even a small group of peo concoct falsehoods. That is why I love the the foundation of Christianity was done so

LIKE (1)

REPLY

SCA  SCA: The Best Bad Fairy You Kn... Sep 28

Well, I don't think it happened. Jesus was yet a the prophet types my people seem to produce and lots of word games and mis-translations ar aggressive marketing turned into Christianity. N unusual in the process.

LIKE

REPLY (1)

Andrew VanLoo

Musings on a Maniacal
Macrocosm

Fair response. Thanks for the exchange.

LIKE (1)

REPLY (1)

Continue thread →

Awilson  Sep 27

I can tell you're not really a fan of any religions. ;)

LIKE

REPLY (1)

SCA  SCA: The Best Bad Fairy You Know... Sep 27

There isn't a religion anywhere that doesn't have flashes of great wisdom. People have been their Big Things for a very long time.

But every religion is also a system of social control for living in society are necessary. Libertarians do anything done. But there's a big difference between saying "take care of your family, don't murder people and don't steal from your neighbor or from society" and saying "you better wear this magic underwear/headgear/holy thread/etc. etc." Between suggesting a net benefit to dress with a certain sense of personal dignity and saying "if you show your hair we'll kill you."

My problem is with everyone making God in their own images. In my view God is not a giant hall monitor. The biggest sado-masochist in the universe. God is unknowable or describable in human language (though apparently the mathematicians get closer than elsewhere) and I understand the hunger to make God understandable.

But dogma is always bad. There's nothing divine, nothing transcendent, nothing holy. It's just people making stuff up and coercing other people to follow in any means they find necessary.

 LIKE (1)  REPLY

kertch  The Kertch Chronicles Sep 26

The have discovered something new - to them. This is mostly the fault of their education.

 LIKED (3)  REPLY

twztid13 twztid13 Sep 26

And they're the ones in control of what the kids "learn", sadly.

❤️ LIKED (2) 💬 REPLY

Identology Identology Sep 26

Hahaha...I'm immune apparently as Woke 1 passed me by. So many aren't and tl sadly, making more of their own kind. .

❤️ LIKED (9) 💬 REPLY (1)

KundaliniAndCellTowers KundaliniAndCellTowers Sep 26

The woke are alive and well in the public school system, reproducing their c culture. I am there, now for 30 years +, standing against as much of this as am attacked for it by all the fat, butch ogres that seem to gravitate to this li

♡ LIKE (8) 💬 REPLY (1)

Andrew VanLoo Musings on a Maniacal Macrocosm Sep 26

Good thing public education will not exist in ten years.

❤️ LIKED (2) 💬 REPLY (1)

Duncan A Turner Duncan A Turner Sep 26

I wish Trump had succeeded in closing down the Federal Departm Education and handed all education policy and administration bac states.

❤️ LIKED (3) 💬 REPLY (1)

Andrew VanLoo Musings on a Maniacal Macrocosm Sep 27

AI will kill it regardless of what the government does.

♡ LIKE 💬 REPLY

Upstream  Upstream Sep 26

You say when the populace dismisses the moral claims of victimhood, then the ' "have no power here."

What if the Woke are in power just long enough to enact "hate speech" laws that the internet, and arrest or dox people protesting a two-tier system, and make it wear a mask to a protest rally? Looks like Woke power can survive just fine. In sf you're in the U.K., where being critical of hordes of illegal Islamic immigrants be relocated to your town is labelled as "racist", then resisting the government's m means jail time or heavy fines, if not death threats.

LIKED (8)

REPLY (1)

JC  JC Sep 30

WATCH AUSTRALIA. We're cracking down and enacting digital fences here right. We are the test market for what is coming down the pike to the rest of world....when you see an Australian law (digital or otherwise - search & seizure just got worse, too) passed, be assured that something similar will be tried country, wherever it may be.

LIKE (2)

REPLY

Skenny  Skenny's Substack Sep 26

This explains why rural areas of the US are not infected to the degree that urban suburban areas are. The average farmer has other concerns than the grievance: masked lesbians and transies in Greenfield, Massachusetts.

As always, media wants to determine the narrative.

LIKED (7)

REPLY

Duncan A Turner  Duncan A Turner Sep 26

On a very basic level, I have given thought to the extent to which "agreeableness" is a personality trait within myself. When you are too high on "agreeableness" you are subject to being manipulated by others. I have decided that agreeableness should not be extended to such irrational and degenerate people. Degeneracy and wokelessness go together. Feminism tells men to become more agreeable. Determining within yourself when you will feel no guilt about being disagreeable when important principles are at stake is an important attitude to cultivate.

 LIKED (5)  REPLY (1)

SnowInTheWind  SnowInTheWind Sep 29

Or you can be pleasant and agreeable on the public interface, but rock-solid on your soul. I think being subject to manipulation has more to do with internal character than with how nice or nasty you are to others.

 LIKE (1)  REPLY

Jay  Garbage Study Sep 26

That's what schools are for. Endless supply of infectables.

 LIKED (4)  REPLY

Kelly Reardon Kelly Reardon Sep 26

100%

Not only will the woke mental disease not just go away, it is being amplified by all the neurologically injured brain damaged people out there...

 LIKED (10)  REPLY

Mitch Mitch Sep 26

I hope it doesn't ever completely die, because then it will be forgotten and the lesson is lost. When the Soviet Union fell apart, we similarly lost our necessary foil to show what not to take.

 LIKED (9)  REPLY (1)

JC  JC Sep 30

...and this is why the youngsters don't have the knowledge, fortitude & power to red-green wave... they can't remember....

 LIKE (1)  REPLY (1)

Mitch Mitch Oct 1

its frustrating that each generation needs to relearn the same principles, but necessary. Our current education system is filled with leftist activists who have no knowledge of history and propagate their useless idiocy.

 LIKE  REPLY

ScottyG  Time to kill Sep 26

but, but, but, what about(ism) the hard of hearing who need to read lips to communicate? not human enough for these mask wearing troglodytes!?!

 LIKED (7)  REPLY

Alamo Dude Alamo Dude Sep 26

Your proof is in the Clinton UN Initiative Prince Harry pivot from censorship to  trolling language can be delivered. Think GoreBull Warming pivot to Climate Change. They know dead, Toto pulled the curtain back on atheist Marxism now.

Why are all the Socialist Leaders $Gazillionaires? Prince Harry tells the Clintonista UN the Amendment is bonkers, "they need to control the Delivery Vehicles of language and SI (A telePrompter Broke, he left for 40 minutes, had to wait for it to be fixed to deliver his canned "speech".

 LIKED (7)  REPLY (2)

Isidore's Brain  Isidore's Brain Sep 26

Yep, the new cool status issue is speech & ai. woke not useful anymore. Harry-what

 LIKED (2)  REPLY

golftdibrad Sep 29

GoreBull Warming, heh, I like that. will be stealing this phrase.

 LIKE  REPLY

SCA SCA: The Best Bad Fairy You Kn... Sep 26

Well! I used to hate and fear math and be very unhappy that it turned out to be the language universe.

But crochet made me love it.

So this post makes me very happy today! I told you yesterday I learned early to trust you. youse brings the proof!

OK, we still have to live through and get past the impending midterm catastrophe. We'll just gird up our loins and get through, then.

LIKE (7) REPLY (1)

Andrew VanLoo Musings on a Maniacal Macrocosm Sep 26

Gato is one of the most insightful people that I read. I am building an AI memory system on his musings on cognition.

LIKE (1) REPLY

Pairedocs Pairedocs' Collection of Heresy Sep 26

You obviously don't live in Canada.

LIKED (7) REPLY (2)

KundaliniAndCellTowers KundaliniAndCellTowers Sep 26

While I don't mind a feel good piece once in a while, we are in no way out of the woods. Universities need to go belly up and go back to classical instruction. Government money should be withheld from colleges and non-citizens. Too many citizens have checked out of the system, lost employment and are paid with tax dollars to do so. We have 38 states in which it is illegal to boycott or divest from Israel. Zionism and AIPAC dominate D.C. If wokeism is on the rise, what are the controllers focusing on now to destroy America? Spending $trillions we are on war? Providing targeting coordinates to Zelensky to take out Russian diesel facilities? Arsoning more granaries? Importing millions of pounds more of diseased meat in the name of "climate change"? Genetically modifying ticks and mosquitoes to make us sick? Having addicted lesbian bars self-destruct is the easy part, the low hanging fruit. The project to destroy Western Civilization, which is wokeism's main focus, is alive and well, imo.

LIKE (11) REPLY

Mike Cranny  Sep 26

Unfortunately, Trudeau played woke for all it was worth including laws and regulation then passed the on to other power hungry politicians, and how that plays out won't b Canada.

 LIKED (9)  REPLY

No  No Sep 26

This example is why successful leftist revolutions immediately kill off all the useful idiots 1 them get to power. One must quiet the voices of insanity and stick to the main theme of t Fearless Leader personality cult.

Oh, by the way, is it just me, or does anyone else think the chick in the first video should l chain link fence and barbed wire that's stuck through her nose?

Does any sane person think that's attractive?

 LIKED (6)  REPLY (2)

Marion  Marion's Substack Sep 26

I was noticing that nose ring, too. Perhaps all it would take for her to remove it in sha mention that farmers put nose rings in animals (pigs, especially) in order to lead ther nose. And who wants to realise they have the hardware to facilitate being so led?

 LIKED (4)  REPLY

Joseph Kaplan  Joseph's Substack Sep 26

Yes. I hate those things

 LIKED (2)  REPLY

Brent Cornell  Sep 26

Well said. However, my preference is for the GOP to survive the election with its majority i Keeping the crazies starved of government money will be an important factor in the conti implosion of their movement.

 LIKED (6)  REPLY (1)

No  No Sep 26

My preference is for the useless, cowardly, weakling GOP to be destroyed so that the replaced by a lean, mean, courageous party that will stand and fight, rather than go dog/new carpet like the current clown car.

 LIKED (5)  REPLY (1)

Brent Cornell  Sep 26

That scenario is tempting, I must say.

 LIKED (3)  REPLY (1)

No  No Sep 26

It's what we need. And it's the right time.

 LIKED (3)  REPLY

Urs Broderick Furrer  Urs Broderick Furrer Sep 27

Really the whole woke insanity can be summed up in your phrase: "hallucinatory theater k grievances" (spelling corrected). I do think you're right. It will die out (though not as fast as I like, of course). The fact that the Boston Globe wrote/exposed this is a sign that the that a newspaper isn't staffed entirely by those mentally ill theatre kids, and that's a good sign. Sydney Sweeney is on her way to becoming a billionaire by making movies and commercial what sells, and the perpetually offended are royally pissed off, but no one cares.

 LIKED (4)  REPLY

Henry Pietkiewicz Henry Pietkiewicz Sep 26

". and folx will never do that. not the true believers. the last of them will be found decades in threadbare rainbow uniforms haunting some flyspeck institution in portland like one of japanese soliders in the 1955 south pacific who did not know the war was over....."

Sadly this will particularly afflict the signed up young, for whom Woke and all its demonst baggage is an identity affirming life style choice that might be difficult to shake off.

So, just like those embarrassing 70 year old Boomers with ponytails, or 50 year old Punks Mohicans and Dr Martins, in the years to come you might spot shades of the archetypal k whale with rings through her face, clinging onto self defined neurodivergence, sexual orie and a crushing disappointment for the loss of an era when she meant something.

LIKED (4)

REPLY (1)

Lightwing ...not a tame lion Sep 27 Edited

Careful with your stereotyping. My hubbie sports a ponytail, loves the Grateful Dead for Trump 3x. We are both free thinkers. People's sartorial choices don't always corre their politics.

LIKE (2)

REPLY

Kurt Kurt Sep 26

Q: How do you starve a DSA member?

A: Hide is wefare check under his work boots!

LIKED (4)

REPLY

Jim Sep 26

~"all it takes to win this culture war is a refusal to allow the crazy people to define the culture back. refuse the frame, flip it and hold them to their own crazy rules. move the field so they can't defend."~

I often find myself calling out the absolute idiocy that some "friends" post on FB, and I wish more people would speak up too!!! But usually, nobody does, even though I know there are many who agree with me. They read the comments and move right along, like they wouldn't want to get involved with a ten foot pole. Like they're scared...

In those threads, there will usually be an echo chamber of 3 or 4 attack-lemmings who will respond without actually responding to what I said. I refute their retarded answers with simple, indisputable facts.. and then they get mad and try to change the subject. I often wonder if they're just in the first place.

It gets tiresome. I wish more people would speak up! LFG!!!

❤️ LIKED (4) 💬 REPLY (1)

JC  JC Oct 2

I carefully try to speak out in FB, but get shouted down with "magic words"

I've been in deep discussions with a 14 yo about "diversity equity inclusion" and magic words. I forwarded him Gato's article on magic words. We will continue our chats tomorrow, and I will tell him (he's surrounded by trans, autistic teens, and he's "waiting for them to grow up, not happening")

People use magic words when they cannot process what you are telling them. It's impossible so they throw out a magic word like "misgender" or "bigot" or "phobic" blah blah but they can't POSSIBLY think about it.

❤️ LIKE (1) 💬 REPLY

Tired old grey mare  Tired old grey mare Sep 26

Apparently the article generated 1000 new subscriptions to the globe (I heard, cannot confirm) would be so funny if globe published more crazy woke stories to stay in business

❤️ LIKED (4) 💬 REPLY

Joseph Kaplan  Joseph's Substack Sep 26

I disagree that it's not won by the congress and/or the presidency. My take on your essay would not be happening had Trump not made DEI illegal in all govt offices plus institutions: govt money. IE schools colleges and university. He also took the wind out of the trans nor taking away the money earned through creating these sad people who are scared for life. a great read.

 LIKED (4)  REPLY

Dorothy Dimock Sep 26

Hardly anyone has commented on "Simon Noire," pulling the actual, "lesbian in a man's b schtick and being one of the most disruptive people on the "arbitration!" Zoom call. Not c a "guy," claiming "victimized lesbian person of color," status, his name (nom de guerre?) i meaning "black." Just completely ludicrous.

 LIKED (4)  REPLY (1)

Curtis  Curtis Sep 26

Just like the "immunocompromised" BS; they're just making this crap up as they go al

 LIKE (1)  REPLY

George Conrad Dick  Born Cheapskate Sep 26

Real life radical Robespierre's rolling revolutionary head represents proof of your thesis. E thousands were executed on his order; and there is damage done when woke ideology ta We must learn to stamp out small ignitions of wokeism early before they grow into a wildf wildfire will consume its fuel, burn out and extinguish most certainly, but the ugliness left slow to vanish. Let's cut off the oxygen early the next time a radical movement appears.

 LIKED (4)  REPLY

Gregg Germain Sep 26

Good, thought provoking article wherein you write:

"they have no moves that do not lose so long as we do not do one thing:

permit them to once more claim validity for their grievances and therefore entitlement to :

Now, it would be interesting to look at woke-ists who won, and describe why.

If you think that the Bolsheviks were woke in their own way - they had a list of grievances list wasn't always true or logical - how did they win? What mistake did the non-woke make them to shut up and laughing at them may not have worked.

LIKED (4)

REPLY (1)

No Sep 26

The Bolsheviks cleaned out the dead wood as soon as they got to power. Today's we too stupid to cull their herd. Or perhaps they didn't quite achieve that total control, it that way to normies.

LIKED (2)

REPLY

Brad Brad's Substack Sep 26

This isn't leopards eating faces its lepers covering faces. Mandating masks isn't compass "immunocompromised", it's a way the pretend aggrievers can draw attention to themselves. Unfortunately, that subset isn't diverse enough to support a business.

LIKED (4)

REPLY

Iridescent Iguana A Desert of Mirrors Sep 26

I was already extremely conservative, did not need another reason...

LIKED (4)

REPLY

Dave Walden  Dave's Substack Sep 27

Fascinating. Is/was there a single event that "triggered" this growing and widespread refusal to take the bait? The emergence of the Trumpoids? Musk's purchase of Twitter?

I ask because each year America's graduating class is composed of all manner of the result of academic indoctrination and malfeasance, providing a fresh crop of the addicted and impressionable. Has academia yet become reluctant to take the bait? If they have not then the "graduating class" will continually try out what they are thought to have learned!

 LIKED (3)  REPLY

Laura Creighton  Laura Creighton Sep 27

I'd be more impressed with how far AI art has come if it also spelt "thieves" correctly.

 LIKED (3)  REPLY

Eric Fuleftists  Eric's Substack Sep 26 Edited

This article exemplifies why the right always loses. What I read is a mixture of self-decept congratulation, hopium, and schadenfreude. Is a bud-lite commercial really the litmus tes encroachment? Really? Instead, I'd recommend the following as a test: enroll your child ir school in some US city, and note how much woke moralistic excreta gets shoved into his his teachers. Then try protesting to the school board, and see how fast it takes Child Prot Services to come knocking at your door.

In spite of the elegant idealistic models you present, there are at least six things about cu reality that you don't seem to get. The following is a gestalt... put them all together and th what it means:

1. It's about power, who has it, how to get it, and how to keep it. It's not just superficial wo wokusts and wokism are structurally embedded. Every organization has some kind of ove group, such as HR. Since wokism controls all the institutions to one degree or another, th nobody on the outside who isn't forced to play along.
2. Wokust ideology requires that everyone believe in wokust ideology. If you don't believe already been conditioned to feel guilty and be a doormat. If you don't do that, you'll be de
3. The hysteria and monomania of the left keep overwhelming the logical reasonableness right. Meanwhile, different elements on the right can never agree on an effective program back the left.
4. The masses just sway with the ideological breeze, they're either too stupid or too busy out what's really happening.
5. The left may turn on itself, but over time it will also destroy everyone else in a wokust Götterdämmerung, foretold by all True Believers as last-ditch proof of their superiority.
6. The conservative says, "Here's a laundry list of woke insanity. It's obviously wrong, but ever doing the hard work of analyzing our enemies and devising a strategy to attack the v of their perverted identity... so that means we've won, nyaah nyaah nyaah." Telling your ei "shut up" is not a strategy, it's a cop-out.

My God, this is tiresome. There's never any quick-and-dirty way to get the point across. (least all agree that woke leftists and their pet identity groups should be permanently expé Greenland? And if you think I'm joking, guess again.

 LIKED (3)  REPLY (1)

KundaliniAndCellTowers  KundaliniAndCellTowers Sep 27

Thank you for your post. We need to take back control of the gears of government and regulation and funding reverse this madness. All incentives toward civilizational decay must be removed. Schools, hospitals, the military, all government agencies must be rid of this rot.

 LIKE (2)  REPLY

Fabes55 Sep 26

I think Woke 1.999 will remain only in the sheltered cocoon of academia. This is pretty much where it started; with the old 60s hippies as educators, and their offspring. It's the only place that is sheltered enough from actual life (as the Last Ditch is now finding out) where this self-defeating ideology can fester for a long time.

 LIKED (3)  REPLY

Swabbie Robbie  Swabbie Robbie Sep 26

Great article!

I keep thinking about the line from "The New Hard Times" sung by 21 year old Linda Ronstadt in 1967 (Evergreen Vol. 2) "When eating comes too easy nothing makes you think"

If we are entering new hard times people do not have time for all the woke BS. Getting back to basics like just having jobs and keeping roof over ones head is what becomes important, many colors one can put in their hair or what foreign causes they support and take to the streets

 LIKED (3)  REPLY

A. Montana Second Half Of The Moon Sep 26

Woke is clearly still alive and thriving on LinkedIn. I'll believe it's dead once that crowd no longer sends virtue signals

 LIKED (3)  REPLY (1)

No  No Sep 26

What's a LinkedIn?

 LIKED (1)  REPLY

jabster 🌐 Punk For Modern Times Sep 26

The Omnicause rulebook not only doesn't handle edge cases very well--it has a hard time finding a happy path. First and foremost because the "happy path" isn't happy, and never will be. Happy warriors always win, because they offer something worth allying with and fighting

❤️ LIKED (3) 💬 REPLY

AJoy 🌐 AJoy Sep 26

It's so sad this mind virus, I see it everywhere and it is repulsive to look at. I try and stay far from this disease but unfortunately my poisonous blue city has spread its tentacles to the suburbs and it's in the Trader Joe's I frequent and in all the festivals and farmers markets too. 🍊

❤️ LIKED (3) 💬 REPLY

Free Range Texan 🌐 Free Range Texan Sep 27

"permit them to once more claim validity for their grievances and therefore entitlement to...
Indeed, always call them out for their lunacy and always make them defend the indefensible.
Recently, my son shared with me a note he had written to his daughter's eighth grade history teacher who as part of the lesson - at a private Christian school, mind you - discussed Che as someone who was moved by social justice factors to become a "Marxist revolutionary". That's it, the end of the line. Never mind he was a mass murderer. A horrible racist. That he routinely executed Catholics would renounce their faith.

My son's note was simple - you people won't be allowed to not tell the whole story, anymore.

❤️ LIKED (2) 💬 REPLY

Alex Audette 🌐 Verbotenly unsanctioned Sep 26

First there was beatnik with poets galore, then they were hippies for free love and more, and then came the yuppies who washed their tie-dyes, and then there were hipsters with beards and a cry, but woke was most special inclusion of loons, we all had enough and wrote them the

<https://themaadmen.bandcamp.com/album/superwoke>

❤️ LIKED (2) 💬 REPLY

Lerkison  Sep 26

Re the CPUSA's statement that Trump has instigated a genocide against LGBT etc. people if "genocide" is the new "racist" epithet thrown at non-liberals.

LIKED (2)

REPLY

Peter Vince Peter Vince Sep 26

A suggestion for a better metaphor for woke.

Woke is not "dead" or "alive" Like a spreading plant, the gardener has just stopped watering. The gardener knows you have to water and give TLC to new plants, but eventually you stop watering. And some parts of it will die back, other parts will become self-sustaining and potentially grow. Fortunately the climate is arid and it will die back a lot. But I think "dead or alive" is not descriptors of what woke is at the moment.

LIKE (2)

REPLY

Peter A.H.J. Peter A.H.J. Sep 26

Maybe...but unless Human Rights and Civil Rights law are at least amended, the law is on

LIKED (2)

REPLY (1)

KundaliniAndCellTowers  KundaliniAndCellTowers Sep 27

Congress can define transgenders, or all these new gender acronyms, and many of the woke categories codified in the DSM-5, as a mental illness. Cut off funding to any group promoting this marxist trash

LIKE

REPLY

la chevalerie vit  vérité et chevalerie Sep 26

The Boston Globe is a bastion of MAGA? Oh please! Not even The Herald would qualify as some reporters there might.

LIKED (2)

REPLY

la chevalerie vit  vérité et chevalerie Sep 26

The "if you are X then you're not allowed to have an opinion on something involving X" is r remember reading anywhere in our Constitution. I don't even know where to start tracing understand how that mentality arose as a byproduct of a byproduct of some tyrannical se childish need.

 LIKED (2)  REPLY

Jim in Alaska Jim's Substack Sep 26

Your logic is impeccable.

Your math is elegant.

The only problem I see is your conclusion.

As you did not consider, you did not account for this not being an age of logic, nor even T
Aquarius, that this era is clearly, unarguably The Age of Mass Psychosis, sadly Woke rains typo.) down upon us throughout the age.

 LIKED (2)  REPLY (1)

Joseph Kaplan  Joseph's Substack Sep 26

I've always felt this whole thing was a hysteria comparable to the Salem witch trials.

 LIKED (4)  REPLY

Dolce Far Niente  Sep 26

One woke icon remains which is still universally acknowledged and adhered to by everyor apogee of speech policing; the use of "the N word" by non-Ns.

Undoubtedly the oldest woke-ishness of all, the vulgar form of Negro has all the power it
They built the racism structure more than 60 years ago, and it remains the outermost limi spoken freedom.

Although the accusation doesn't have the sticking power it once did, racism is still consid unforgivable sin instead of the minor character blemish it really is. This will be the hardes pull from our freedom garden.

 LIKED (2)  REPLY (1)